

Award More Degrees with EduNav Summit

Simplify tracking degree progress — and automatically compare against degree programs in which a student is not currently enrolled

Many of your students are wasting time and money, accumulating excess credits. They may be eligible for degrees, but they're not represented in your graduation rates, which means you are reporting lower numbers than you need to and your funding and ranking may be negatively affected.

With EduNav Summit, you'll award more degrees. You'll simplify analyzing every one of each student's completed courses and comparing them to all available degree/credential requirements, declared or not.

Summit answers your most critical completion questions, including:

- Which students have already met all requirements for a degree or credential, even if it is not their declared goal?
- How close are students to completing any program, credential, or major, whether or not it is their declared goal?
- For each student, which degrees and credentials are they closest to completing?
